Jubilee to Commence Wednesday at 9.30 a.m. With Monster Parade

Have you ever seen such a marvellous growth of wheat as noticed on the streets of Didsbury the last few weeks? Have you wondered what it's all about? Well, let me tell you those men with the hairy faces are preparing for the biggest celebration the town of Didsbury has ever witnessed.

It all started with that lively go-getting Service Club, the Didsbury Lions. Realizing that the community this year has advanced through fifty years of progress in which the Old Timers have built up a district of which they may be justly proud—the Lions Club want to show their appreciation. Who could be more fitting than to continue this wonderful progress by sponsoring a project for the young people and children of the district—and something the older ones will enjoy too—the building of a swimming pool as one of the units of the Didsbury Memorial Community Centre. When completed, with the help of all the organizations in town and district, this Centre will consist of a Memorial Auditorium, a skating rink and curling rink, tennis courts, ball park, playground area, etc. We all know that children in this day and age should not have to grow up without the benefits of such a recreational centre.

So there is going to be a colossal Celebration on this fiftieth Anniversary of the town of Didsbury, on August 14, 1946. In the morning at ten o'clock sharp a big parade will start down town and proceed to the Exhibition Grounds. Everybody is going to decorate their cars, bicycles, tricycles, horses and even themselves—there are going to be floats and Indians and everything else that goes with a really big Parade. There will be big prizes for the best in each of these classes and the judging will be done down town. The parade will be led by the Didsbury-Carstairs Band and following them will be the Queen of the Carnival. The Queen will be the young lady who has the most votes when the Jubilee Queen Contest closes on August 13th. As you all know these four are Olwyn Hughes, Jean Krebs, Gwyneth Morgan and Mary Wood and you can help your favorite win and at the same time help the Swimming pool project by buying more and more votes as often as you see her. You can follow the standings by watching the chart in C.E. Reiber's office. After the parade reaches the Exhibition grounds the sports program will begin. There will be races for young and old, ball games, bingo and many other games. The Queen will be crowned in a big and impressive ceremony and she will officiate in all the events, with the help of her ladies-in-waiting. The Old Timers will be the honored guests and any over seventy will be allowed to take part in any of the events "on the house." There will be plenty of places to eat and plenty of refreshments for everybody. The special speaker of the day will be Mr. George Clarke, an old timer of the district.

Everyone should dress up in old-fashioned clothes—if you haven't any on hand make them up by getting your patterns from the old timers' pictures on display in the window of J.P. Berscht's and sons store. In the evening a mammoth "Jitney Dance" will be held on the grounds with a good orchestra. So you can see there will be lots of fun the whole day for young and old. Let's make this celebration on August 14th one that will be long remembered as the biggest and best day Didsbury has ever seen. And don't forget it is all for a very worthwhile cause—a modern swimming pool that will make the people of the town and district for a good many years to come say, "those Didsbury residents of 1946 certainly had the health and welfare of the younger generation at heart when they held their big celebration that year and started this marvellous swimming pool that we are still enjoying."

Let everyone of us do his best in supporting our Queen candidates in taking part in the parade and in turning out in full force on that Day of Days, the Fiftieth Anniversary Jubilee Celebration to be held in Didsbury on August 14th.

Home Makers' Clinic at Home of Mrs. Roy McNaughton

The August meeting of the Rugby W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. L. Krebs. There was an attendance of 14 and one new member joined this month. Final arrangements were made for the three day "Home Makers' Clinic" which is being held by Miss Anderson, district home economist, at the home of Mrs. Roy McNaughton on August 20, 21, 22. Mrs. A. Blum gave an excellent paper on "Citizenship," and all had a good discussion afterwards on some of the suggestions contained therein. The branch is sending up a donation to the "Vitamins for Babies" Fund. The delegates told of the very pleasant time they spent at the O.S.A. during Farm Women's Week. The grounds are beautiful there and if any one did not enjoy the week's program it certainly was not the fault of the staff who did everything possible to give the visitors a lovely time.

The W.I. hopes to have its monthly picture shows again this fall. When everything was finished the meeting closed with the National Anthem. Lunch was served after which all turned faces homeward, to meet again in September at the home of Mrs. Shannon.

BULL MOOSE ROAMS AROUND WEST COUNTRY

While the bush is full of moose and deer west of Didsbury, it is not often that the lordly moose ventures into the wide open spaces, although on numerous occasions deer have been reported as having been seen by local farmers.

However, on Friday Slim Goodson, one of our notorious big game hunters and ardent sportsmen, reports that he saw a big bull moose on his farm 8 1/2 miles north west of Didsbury.

COUNCIL DECLARES WED., AUGUST 14 A CIVIC HOLIDAY HERE

At the regular meeting of the Council of the Town of Didsbury held on Monday night, a by-law was passed proclaiming Wednesday, August 14th a Civic Holiday, and all places of business must remain closed the entire day.

A Court of Revision was held and four appeals were made against assessments, but no reduction was granted.

A delegation, consisting of W.H. Davies, representing the Olds School Division; Sid Gilson, representing the Legion; and Mrs. Bowman, representing the I.O.D.E., was present and interviewed the Council regarding land to be set aside for a Community Centre. Plans for such a centre were submitted and Council agreed to set aside the necessary acreage. The delegation was requested to meet at a later date with the Property Committee of the Council and decide on the entrance to the Community Centre grounds.

A communication from the Board of Industrial Relations advised that all employees in retail business places must comply with the nine-hour day and 48-hour week.

A grant of $50 was made to the Didsbury Agricultural Society. Clayton Johnson's application for a license to establish a shop in Didsbury for the sale of radios and parts, and electrical supplies and appliances, was referred to Council by the Dept. of Trade and Industry and given approval.

GRADE NOW CONSTRUCTED ON BURNT STICK ROAD

The road being constructed to Burnt Stick Lake with funds provided by the Olds and Didsbury branches of the Fish and Game Association, has at last been started and reports are that the initial grading was done last week. This does not mean that the road is passable to motor traffic, and considerable work will have to be done on the road before it is ready for travel.

The road in question goes north from Sundre over the James River Bridge and then west from the Crammond school into Burnt Stick Lake. When completed it will provide a haven for holiday seekers and sportsmen, as well as access to big game territory in the fall.

RAYMOND JOHNSON OVERTURNS MODEL T ON THE BLIND LINE

Last Tuesday evening about 9.15 Raymond Johnson accompanied by Cliff Baptist, Dave Lamont and Bob Devolin, had the misfortune to overturn Raymond's model T jalopy just this side of Reid Clarke's farm, while returning from swimming at the Dog Pound.

It is reported that a car in front of them would not turn out to let them pass, so the boys decided to try the other side, but were forced into the ditch with disastrous results.

The boys were taken to the Didsbury hospital where it was disclosed that Cliff Baptist sustained a broken collar bone. Raymond had his back and shoulder injured. Bob had his arm cut and other bruises; while Dave got off with a bad shaking up and other minor injuries. The jalopy was pretty well wrecked but no doubt the lads will fix it up again.

Community Centre Plan Outlined at Legion Meeting

At the Legion meeting last Wednesday night, the ground plan of the proposed Memorial Community Centre was submitted to the members, and also to a meeting of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary.

More than a year ago the local branch of the Legion after much discussion and careful thought, decided that another monument to keep evergreen the memory of those men who sacrificed their lives in the last war should not be erected, but instead that a living memorial be devised, one that would in its varied uses be symbolic of the fruits of peace so dearly won, and that would bring the people of the town and countryside together in harmony and good fellowship.

The Legion submitted its ideas to the representatives of various organizations from town and country and at a meeting held last spring it was decided to ask the Legion to procure architects' plans of a proposed Memorial Community Centre. The Legion was only too pleased to be of service in this respect, and engaged Messrs. Rule, Wynn and Rule, Architects, of Calgary to draw the plans.

The scheme at a first glance might seem rather an ambitious one, but it should be understood that the centre as planned cannot, in a comparatively speaking small community, be completed at all once it is in reality a picture of a vision which is hoped may grow to fruition over a period of years.

A start is being made, however. The public are well aware of the activities of the Lions Club, leading towards the construction of a swimming pool. The Legion's part of the plan is the erection of a community auditorium for the use of the whole district, where there will be a women's community parlour, in which may be held the meetings of the I.O.D.E., Women's Institutes, Legion Ladies Auxiliary, and all other women's organizations from town and country. Then the Legion and other men's organizations will have a meeting place. If it is at all possible an auditorium will be provided for use as a concert hall, gymnasium for the school children, a place where they may have their dramatic and musical festivals where Badminton, Basket

The executives together with the committee met at Doug Hosenood's on Thursday, August 1st to arrange the non-delivery strike vote. The voting will take place at Rugby Hall on Friday, August 9th from 12 noon till 10 p.m. We hope every local farmer will take advantage of this opportunity to express his or her opinion. Don't forget the place and date—Rugby Hall on August 9th.

Council endorsed a resolution passed by No. 3 Western Branch of Alberta School Trustees' Association, that the association is strongly opposed to any school division at any time being paid 1-5 under the application of New School Grants Act, that they would have been paid had the old act remained in effect.

Secretary informed Council that a quantity of sodium chlorate for weed killing was on hand and council agreed to sell it to farmers in 100-lb drums at 10¢ per pound, which is slightly below cost.

Council also decided to try out a small quantity of 2-D to determine its value as a weed killer. A grant of $10 was made to the Sundre School Fair, and $150 each to the Didsbury and Olds Agricultural Societies.

Reedler and Mr. A. R. McLeod were appointed to go to Edmonton this week to inspect a second hand elevating grain and if satisfactory to purchase same to be used in Division two on the road from Madden west.

A delegation comprising I. Owens, J.H. Robertson, B. Reid and R. McLeod interviewed Council requesting that more road construction be undertaken in the south west part of the municipality. Council passed a resolution supporting the Ratepayers' Association Locals which are being formed in various parts of the Municipal District, and the same was passed.

A resolution was also passed fixing the Days of Court of Revision for August 12, 13 and 19.

OLD TIME MERCHANT VISITS

Mr. N.T. Purcell visited in Didsbury on Friday, and returned Saturday to his home in Gleichen. Mr. Purcell at one time had a store business in Didsbury which he sold in 1918, when he went to Nova Scotia. Returning the following year he settled in Gleichen where he continued in the store business until 1934. Mr. Purcell is now an assistant postmaster at Gleichen and wishes to be remembered to all his old friends and acquaintances.

Women's organizations, ex-members of the forces, scouts and guides will parade at the Monument at 2.15 p.m. The Didsbury-Carstairs band under the leadership of Mr. Hans Olsen will be in attendance.

At the regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Mountain View held at Didsbury on Monday, August 5th, the Council approved the agreement between the Department of Agriculture and the Municipality, setting up the Agricultural Service Board and providing for payment by the Department of Agriculture to the municipal district of half the cost of the salary of the Field Supervisor at a rate of $1,000, up to $325 for assistance in providing material, equipment and labor in conducting approved weed control projects, and up to $75 for assistance in public relations programs approved by the Board.

Four Old Age Pensions were approved by Council.

Fortunes Have Been Spent All Over The World In The Search For Perpetual Motion

(By Cameron Rougie in Ottawa Citizen)

FROM time immemorial man has tried to devise a perpetual motion machine. Although he has produced machines, which generate their own energy, he has never been able to overcome the breakdown of component parts from friction. Nevertheless every year applicants seek patents on perpetual motion machines from the Canadian Patent and Copyright office in Ottawa. Officials there decided some years ago that the only way to discourage inventors of perpetual motion machines was to insist that a working model be submitted with the application.

Thousands of dollars have been spent all over the world by inventors in their search for perpetual motion. Even Ottawa has not been spared. For a resident of the Capital some years ago spent considerable sums of money and time in a fruitless effort to solve the problem.

Perpetual motion, according to the experts, is a body in motion which continues to move unless acted on by a force. In this sense, perpetual motion is the normal state of affairs, but actually all moving bodies encounter resistance, and lose energy and motion by doing work against it. As ordinarily understood, perpetual motion implies the continuous performance of work without expenditure of energy. The production of energy from nothing is impossible, neither is it possible to draw energy continually from the surroundings.

These primary physical laws notwithstanding, efforts are still made to devise the perpetual motion machine. The Canadian patent office receives some applications every year, but their insistence on a working model has so far spared them the task of issuing a patent.

Applications have come from as far afield as Japan and countries in Europe. The Japanese claim was accompanied by accounts and pictures from Japanese physicists, even the pictures purported to show the machine driving a boat, no patent was issued.

The patent office reports that over 7,000 patents were issued in 1945. About 70 per cent. of these were issued to persons living outside of Canada. Request for patents on perpetual motion contrivances, however, form a very small percentage of the applications received.

A search for "tube Goldberg" inventions revealed very few. Other than the brainchilds of the prairie provinces, which were supposed to safeguard merchant ships during the war, there were very few zany applications. One such anti-torpedoing device would, if installed on every merchant ship, be so heavy that the vessels would not carry any cargo.

Some years ago the mortality rate from railroad accidents was so high that many prospective inventors to apply for patents on train stopping devices. One perpetual motion machine the train be equipped with hooks and clamps which could be lowered to grab the rails and ties, thereby halting the train.

The fact that the entire rail-road would be picked up by the halting train was ignored by the applicant. Non-reliable he was, and on the persistence of the inspectors for many years. To defeat fiery eyes, safety devices on letters also inundated the desks of the patent office.

Driving Record

Only One Minor Accident In 50,000 Miles For C.W.A.C. Driver

Only one minor accident in approximately 50,000 miles of driving is the record of Cpl. Eunice (Chuck) Marshall, Borden, who received her driver's license from the Canadian Women's Army Corps at Regina, recently.

Cpl. Marshall joined the Corps in January 1943 and received her basic training at Vermilion, Alta. "I had always wanted to drive," Chuck explained, "and my wish came true when I was sent to the Army Service Corps training centre at Red Deer, Alta., on a six weeks drivers' course as soon as I graduated from Vermilion."

Posted to Regina at the completion of the course, she has driven all types of vehicles such as jeeps, trucks, station wagons and fifty hundred weights for the C.W.A.C. Recruiting Unit, Army Service Corps and 112 Tps.

When questioned about her one and only accident Chuck volunteered that it had been due to slippery roads which had caused her to collide with an army fire truck and the only damage to the car a slightly dented fender.

Chuck has two sisters in the Canadian Women's Army Corps; Sgt. Frances Marshall, Regina, and Cpl. Kitty Marshall of Ottawa. Besides two brothers, now discharged after previous service.

NEEDED TWO

In a small town out West there was a sudden commotion. It appeared that a wire had fallen across the main street and was holding up all traffic. No one dared to touch it in case it should be "live".

The news reached the editor of the local paper, and he acted promptly. "Send down two reporters," he ordered, "one to touch the wire and the other to write up the story."

Famous Botanist

Claims That Vikings Were Here Long Before Columbus

Proof that the Vikings not only discovered America, but actually lived on this continent several centuries before Christopher Columbus "discovered" America in 1492 is to be found at the mouth of the St. Lawrence River, according to Dr. Nicholas Polunin, famous botanist, zoologist and explorer, who has arrived from Oxford University to take over his new assignment as visiting professor of botany at McGill University. During the summer months he will conduct botanical research in the Canadian Eastern Arctic under the auspices of the Arctic Institute of North America, which has granted him a research fellowship.

Archaeologists have never been able to gain sufficient evidence of the existence of Vikings on this continent to satisfy themselves and other critical investigators. Dr. Polunin pointed out. However, there is an entirely new approach to the controversy which the distinguished professor is sure will settle the controversy for all time.

Dr. Polunin during the course of his several years of field research work, much of which was in the Canadian Eastern Arctic, discovered plants which were obviously not native to the areas in which he was working. This was particularly true of certain parts of Greenland. His botanical knowledge aided him in identifying the plants. They were brought over by the Vikings, who thus left tangible proof of their existence on this side of the Atlantic.

Dr. Polunin is satisfied that botanical research work at the mouth of the St. Lawrence, north or south shores, will provide clear-cut evidence that Vikings not only explored the continent but actually established colonies here.

He began his field explorations while still an undergraduate at Oxford and was with the Oxford University Lapland expedition in 1930, later he went to the White Sea, and in 1931 he began his explorations on this continent as a member of the Oxford University Hudson Strait Expedition. He has since been on several expeditions, including trips to the Canadian Eastern Arctic on the R.S. Naosic.

He is the author of "Botany of the Canadian Eastern Arctic", Part I, which was published by the Canada Department of Mines and Technical Surveys, Mines and Geology Branch. He has written Parts II and III, which are on the fauna and is engaged in writing Part IV, and is also the author of two other volumes written during his undergraduate explorations. Montreal Star.

WITNESS DECLARES FEARS FOR HER CHILDREN. Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, wife of the U.S. government's star witness in the espionage-conspiracy trial of Nicolai G. Redin, refused on the witness stand to divulge the whereabouts of her four small children, saying she has been fearful for their safety since Lt. Redin's arrest last March 26. She gave her testimony during fruitless attempts of the defence to get her to acknowledge financial embarrassment and financial assistance from the federal government. Belgium's Tribute

Large Crowd Attended Memorial Service For Canadian Soldiers

ADEGEM, Belgium. From a score of cities and towns of northwest Belgium, more than 3,000 Belgian men, women and children came to the Canadian army cemetery near the hamlet north of Ghent to commemorate the Canadians who took part in the liberation of this country.

By the graves of 800 Canadian soldiers of the 3rd and 4th divisions and the 2nd armoured brigade, which fought through this area along the Leopold canal in the fall of 1944, the Belgians gathered and in Roman Catholic and Protestant services remembered particularly the men from the Dominion who fell along the bloody wayward.

Mr. Justice W. F. A. Torgon, Canadian ambassador to Belgium, and his staff attended the ceremony, organized by the welfare committee of Ghent.

The Canadian army detachment which was in the victory parade in London on June 8, came to Adegem to provide the guard of honor. The crowd packed the broad, green cemetery in the open field off the main highway from Ghent to Oostende (Ostend) and at each Canadian grave stood a little Belgian girl in a white dress with a wreath in her arms.

As the ceremony began, the girls placed their wreaths on the neat graves, marked with white metal crosses bearing the name of the dead soldier, with his rank, regiment and a painted maple leaf.

Leader of the welfare committee then presented Mr. Justice Torgon with small bags of earth taken from the graves to be sent to Canada to the next-of-kin of the men buried there.

To Feel Right — Eat Right!

Name In Who's Who

King George VI's English Ruler Recorded By United States

Britain's King George has hit a niche in the United States that none of his predecessors ever achieved. The Publishers of "Who's Who in America" said the inclusion of his biography in their new volume is the first time the record of an English king ever has appeared in the publication.

His name is among the 8,519 newcomers to the most comprehensive issue of the book since it first was published in 1899. Explaining the addition, the publishers said that several years ago they began "sketching" foreigners who were so well known in this country as to make them of American reference interest. During the war, they added, they confined these names chiefly to those of writers and artists of interest to Americans, but with peace, the new policy now has been thoroughly applied.

Nine-year-old actress Margaret O'Brien became the youngest entry to a Who's Who edition since Shirley Temple was taken in at the age of seven several years ago, the publisher said.

MODERN INDUSTRY

A machine eats away a sandbank in the roadside, another mixes builders' materials, another cuts out a trench or sinks a shaft. Certainly modern industry requires fewer laborers but its economies produce more and more varied work, and its very dependence on mechanism is making a nation of mechanics.

Our lungs hold approximately 10 pints of air when we take a deep breath. Normally, however, they hold about six pints. One pint is inhaled in and out every time we take a breath.

An Estimate Of The Extent Of Canada's Agricultural Soil Resources Difficult To Determine

ANY statement of the extent of Canada's agricultural soil resources, and particularly of her arable soil resources, cannot be more than an approximation until soil surveys have been made in all areas that have agricultural possibilities, writes Dr. A. Leachey, Soils Specialist, Experimental Farms Service, Ottawa, in the May issue of the Agricultural Institute Review. The Agricultural Institute of Canada, by the way, was formerly the well-known C.S.T.A., the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists.

However, continues Dr. Leachey, soil surveys have been made of a large percentage of Canada's present agricultural areas, and the information given by these surveys, together with that obtained from other sources, makes it possible to give an approximation that may have a reasonable degree of reliability. Several important physical features decidedly limit the possible extent of Canada's arable soils. A large portion of the Dominion is covered with bare rock and rough land. The Precambrian Shield alone occupies nearly 50 per cent. of the total area of the Dominion; the Canadian Rockies about 14 per cent., while other rough lands would bring the total area of such lands to 70 or 75 per cent.

It is true that important bodies of agricultural land lie within both the Precambrian Shield and the Rockies, but the great proportion of land there is unfit for farming purposes. Then there are definite climatic barriers in the more northerly regions of the Dominion, where the prevalence of permafrost and the great prevalence of swamps and muskegs in much of the forested lands definitely curtail the possible amount of agricultural land.

According to the 1941 census of Canada, the area of occupied farm land was 175 million acres, of which 51 per cent., or 89 million acres, was in improved pasture, was being cultivated. Another 30 per cent., or 52 million acres, was in prairie or natural pasture. While no data were given, it would seem that several million acres of uncultivated land were also being used for pasture purposes.

While all the land being cultivated in Canada at the present time is not first class land, there is no doubt, says Dr. Leachey, that it does include the cream of the farm lands in Canada. Probably at least five per cent. of the present cultivated lands should be retired permanently to grass or woodland, but the remainder may be considered as arable land if properly managed. In fact, most of the potential arable lands may be farmed but their development will be slow as compared with the opening up of the prairies in the early years of this century.

Modern Music

Trend Towards Jazz Hits Progress Says Music Director

Miss Ethel Kinley, director of music for Winnipeg, at the convention of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Associations at Toronto said the trend towards "jazz" and "swing" among adolescents was disastrous and eliminated any hope of man's progress to higher levels of thought or action.

"An attitude has been created in the minds of our less-sophisticated adolescents which causes them to sneer at 'high brow' music and to demand the popular brand of swing or jazz or whatever disease is prevalent at the moment," she declared. "To this is added the persistently cultivated craving for excitement and primitive forms of amusement, designed and plugged at great expense by Hollywood magnates and New York pathos arrangers and writers."

She expressed the hope that true musical appreciation would be furthered by the young wage-earners one made in music shops, spending part of their meagre wages on masterpieces works and music lessons.

Outdoor Advertising

Movement In Britain For Controlling Legislation

Government control of unsightly outdoor advertisements is planned in Britain in future, and legislation to that effect will be introduced, Lewis Sillan, Minister of Town and Country Planning, told the Invoys and Society of British Advertisers.

Outdoor advertising had served a good purpose, he said, and had a great influence on the public, but it must not be allowed to spoil the amenities in either town or country.

In waiting controlling legislation, the government was considering how it could be administered without interfering with advertising activities, he said. In the meantime advertisers should do what they could to prevent the spread of unsightly outdoor advertisements.

Tour Of Britain

Eight young people, representing the youth of Canada, now are in Britain on the first of a series of trans-Atlantic visits between the youth of both countries.

Sponsored by the Empire Youth Movement and the National Council of Education of Canada the visits are planned to instill in young people a sense of their moral responsibilities to the future.

Canadian youth representatives now in England are Kathleen Deacon, Brampton, Ont.; Marion Charles, Toronto; Elizabeth Holmes, National Council of Education of Canada nominee; John Allen, representing Canadian church organizations; David Stukley of the Boy's Parliament and other local Orilla, Ont., organizations; Jack Spalding, Central Collegiate Institute, London, Ont.; Joyce Chown, representing Winnipeg's public schools and Philip Ashton for the Air Cadets, Boy Scouts and Junior Red Cross members.

The group reached Southampton May 19 and since have met Princess Elizabeth and been entertained by Lord Beaverbrook. The Canadians were among the millions of people who watched the Victory Parade in London, June 8.

THE COMMUNITY CENTRE

After some months of discussion and serious thought given to the possibility of a community centre in Didsbury the various organizations in town and district seem to have at last joined forces in an endeavor to make such a project possible, and from now on every effort will be made towards the erection of a permanent memorial to our departed boys and girls who gave their lives for us in World War II.

Tentative plans call for a Community Centre to consist of the Lions Club swimming pool, the Legion memorial hall, possibly a new curling rink, covered arena, children's playground, etc., all to be placed together in a central location on town property in East Didsbury. The land set aside for this project is large enough to allow for the erection of a Composite High school should this ever be constructed in Didsbury.

With the Community Centre now almost sure of becoming a reality in the years to come it behooves every individual in our town and district to get behind the idea and see that it is brought to a successful conclusion.

Didsbury is one of the fastest growing towns in Alberta and the time has come for its citizens to provide modern playgrounds and other facilities for our children, as well as proper recreation for the older folks who dwell in our midst.

The Lions Club swimming pool is the finest part of the development program of a community centre to be undertaken and the Jubilee on August 14th is an endeavor to raise fun for the pool. Let us all support this effort in every way possible.

We understand that this fall the Legion will commence a campaign to raise funds for their part of the Community Centre—a memorial hall—and when the campaign starts it, too, should have the wholehearted support of all who believe in the welfare of the community as a whole.

Now that the ice has been broken let us all work together for the common cause—the Community Centre.

BEARDS! BEARDS! BEARDS!

"Hello there Joe," he said to me
When I met him on the street in Didsbury.
His face looked familiar but rather weird.
Hidden behind a long black beard.
"It seems I know you well," I said,
"Could it be Tom or Harry or Ted?"
"Wrong guess," he said as he walked on.
"Don't you recognize your old friend John?"

Soon after that another appeared he was all decked out in a cute grey beard.
He spoke to me but oh—what a shame
I didn't even know his name.

And as I went shopping here and there,
I thought I saw beards everywhere:
"I'm seeing things," I began to think,
"I shouldn't have taken that last drink."

But then I met a good old scout.
Who told me what "was all about."
"The Didsbury Lions Club members," said he,
"Are growing beards for the Jubilee."

Now fellows let those whiskers grow awhile.
It's an "old times" day, anything's in style.
So success to the boys, may the day
be fine.

We'll know them all when their faces shine.

WEDDINGS

EDWARDS—MERTENS

The bride and groom exchanged rings at a twelfth wedding solemnized in the Pro-cathedral Church of the Redeemer, Wednesday, July 17, when Joyce Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mertens of Calgary, became the bride of Donald Ralph Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Edwards of Didsbury.

Very Rev. Dean F.H. Smye officiated at the ceremony which took place before a flower banked altar.
Given in marriage by her father,
the bride was gown in a floor-length model of heavy white satin styled with a net yoke, and worn beneath a full-length veil held bouquet of red roses and sweetpeas, and wore a cameo pendant as her only jewelry.

Mrs. E. Robertson of Innisfail, was the bride's only attendant, attended in a tender blue, sheer ensemble. Pink carnations composed her bouquet.

Jack Edwards of Red Deer, brother of the groom, was the best man.
Miss Dulcie Bishop presided at the organ throughout the service, and accompanied Sherrin Robinson of Olesco, who sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Following the service a reception was held in the west room of the Palmer hotel where the bride's table was centred with a tiered etc. are do in are for vote archery wedding cake flanked by vases of sweetpeas and lighted tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left later by motor for a honeymoon in the mountains prior to returning to Calgary to reside. As her travelling ensemble the bride chose a powder blue suit worn beneath a gray shortie coat, and complemented with a blue flowered hat.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Kennedy, Auburn, Wash., uncle and aunt of the groom; Mrs. W.H.
Reeves, aunt of the bride and John Reeves, the bride's grandfather, both of Victoria, B.C.

Price of Wheat Raised to $1.35

An increase in the initial price of wheat from $1.25 to $1.35 a bushel, effective for a five-year period, and removal of the pegged export price of $1.55 on sales to non-contracting countries has been announced.

The announcement was made in the Commons by Trade Minister MacKinnon who disclosed these developments in a 1,000 word statement.

1. The initial price to western producers has been raised 10 cents a bushel to $1.35, retroactive to August 1, 1945, and will remain at that level until July 31, 1950.

2. The 1945-46 deliveries, based on the former rate of $1.25,
will be brought up to the $1.35 basis by payment to producers of a flat 10 cents a bushel on all grades.
Unofficial estimates said this payment would total $24,000,000.

3. The per centage payment on the 1944 crop will be "upward of 16 cents a bushel."

4. The pegged export price of $1.55 a bushel has been removed and a "serious" effort will be made on sales to non-contracting countries—Britain as contracting country is excluded—so that prices "roughly corresponding" to those of the United States, which now stand at more than $2 a bushel.

5. The Canadian wheat board will accept "all the wheat" that western producers wish to deliver from the forthcoming harvest.

6. The wheat board itself will be continued in operation as the sole marketing agency for Canadian wheat.

7. The domestic wheat price of $1.25 will be continued, with the government continuing its payment of a draw-back to millers to cover the difference between 77 cents and $1.25 a bushel of wheat used in Canada for human consumption.

In his announcement, Mr. MacKinnon disclosed a plan to bulk all surpluses from the sale of wheat for the crop years from 1945 to 1949 in a five-year pool and defer participation payments until 1950 instead of making them yearly as at present.

He said that after the 10-cent payment has been made on the 1945 crop to bring its initial price up to the new rate the remaining surplus from the crop will be placed in the pool which will be used to cover the cost of the succeeding crops of 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949.

The Wheat Board will issue participation certificates as usual but they will not be paid after July 31, 1950.

LEGION DISCUSSES GROUND PLAN OF COMMUNITY CENTRE

Ball and other games may be played.

The Legion's contribution to the Centre will, it is hoped, be a beautiful as well as useful building. The members want it to be truly symbolic in a memorial sense.

The ground plan is most comprehensive. It provides for the activities of various organizations, should they desire to participate. It is the centre of the town, the auditorium, and adjacent thereto are ground plans of a swimming pool, skating and hockey rink, four sheets of ice for the curling fraternity, tennis courts, playground for the smaller children, a soft ball diamond, and quite a large area is reserved for the parking of cars. A central heating unit may be installed if required. The plans may be seen at the offices of C. E. Reiber and W. A. Austin.

It is understood that the Didsbury Town Council is favourably disposed to setting aside an area of land for the centre. The Community Centre idea is a unifying feature in many communities, and especially rural communities throughout Canada. Not only will it strengthen the bond of friendship between town and country, but it will provide educational and recreational facilities for old and young alike. The boy and girl from the country attending High School will find an outlet for their leisure hour energies, in clean recreation for mind and body. The lack of such facilities in the smaller places has been a deplorable want in the past.

While the Legion, the Lions Club the Curling Club, the Binks Limited, the Womens Institute, the I. O. D. E. the U. F. A. and A. F. U., may all sponsor and assist in the operation of certain projects of the centre, it should be remembered that the public generally is the real fostering parent. The Centre as a whole is not intended for the sole use and enjoyment of any particular group or organization, but for the whole community - Didsbury and the surrounding farming district. There will be a governing council, having representatives on its board from all organizations concerned.

Owing to shortages in materials and labour, it is realized that no building operation can be commenced this year, and perhaps not to any extent next year, but the provisional Community Centre Committee has under consideration the immediate clearing of the area, and the provision of playground facilities.

As has been said, the Lions Club has proceeded with its campaign to raise funds for the swimming pool. The Legion has decided to stage a campaign for funds in November of this year. If the Memorial Community Centre is to grow and be the success it is hoped it will be, all organizations and individuals will of necessity have to be One United Team, with one conviction - the preservation of the memory of our fellows who died for us — by the creation of something which will help make the world they died for a happier and more contented sphere in which to live, the kind of world they would like to think they had sacrificed their lives for.

Spiritualist Mediums

SON OF Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Says He Is In Touch With His Father

LONDON—Adrian M. Conan Doyle, son of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, said he was "regularly in touch" with the spirit of his father.

Sir Arthur was author of the Sherlock Holmes mystery stories. Protesting the use of his father's name by spiritualist mediums, Mr. Doyle told an interviewer:

"I am regularly in touch with my father in his own inner circle, and I can say that he deplores this public and entirely unwarranted use of his identity and the pernicious habit of ascribing to him, through the vehicle of trance 'addresses', viewpoints and statements that have no more solid foundations in fact than the subconscious mind of the medium."

Simultaneously Mr. Doyle criticized what he described as "anti-Christian elements in the spiritualist movement."

His aim, Mr. Doyle explained, is a union between the churches and spiritualism in which mediums would be "ordained and paid by the churches and receive help in the churches after the services."

Not Very Musical

Call Of Whippoorwill Is Very Piercing And Persistent

The whippoorwill has a big mouth. In theory, says the New York Times, this mouth is peculiarly adapted to catching insects, for the bird does its insect hunting at night and on the wing. It has to catch lots of insects in a hurry, for it doesn't spend much time hunting. Most of its time is spent making noise with that big mouth.

The whippoorwill does not sing. If you are charitable about such matters, you may call its noise a call; but it is about as musical as a peep with the squeak of an ungreased wagon wheel. Not as piercing, perhaps, but more persistent.

Compared to the call of a whippoorwill, the screeching hoot of the most raucous owl is sweet and soothing. Besides, owls pause for breath. The whippoorwill doesn't.

EARNED DISTINCTION

Out of his travels in India, Mark Twain related his eyewitness account of the pompous of the Judge of the Bombay High Court.

The Judge, whose bearing denoted that never for an instant could he forget his judicial distinction, was walking up and down the platform of a small railway station just before taking his seat in the train. A few minutes after the train had driven into the station, a perspiring Englishman rushed to the platform and ran to the Judge. To this the Bombay train.

The Judge, looking over the head of the questioner, remarked coldly: "I am not the Station Master."

Whereupon the Englishman retorted with considerable heat: "Then confound you, sir, why do you swagger about as if you were?"

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

HEALTH FOR EVERYBODY

There are various conceptions of both the objectives and the means of health education. There is the limited, paralytic few people by a few educators—too frequently a single professional in a limited area teaching the simple essentials of a few health principles, a few facts about nutrition or the necessity for immunizing against disease and the like. This was the first and the simplest conception.

Departments of Health struggled for years to persuade reluctant legislators to make meagre appropriations for a work which did not seem to be tangible enough to be understood.

It would seem the more logical understanding of the objective and means of health education involves an understanding of the problem for beyond the vision of pioneers in the field. Actually if health education came in to its own, civilization itself might be changed almost overnight.

The great cause of poverty is sickness. By dealing with sickness we attack poverty. Science has provided means whereby preventable sickness may be banished from the land—and standards of positive health immeasurably improved. Theoretically it is possible to not only eliminate the communicable diseases but at the same time build a people taller, stronger longer lived, more efficient and happier.

But to achieve this end we must emerge from the horse and buggy days of health education—from the idea that a few professionally trained persons can take the job on all by themselves. Health education in its larger sense is the business of every citizen. Every citizen should do his part to educate himself, his neighbors and his children if we are to build the healthy happy world which should be the right of sentient human beings.

The job of health education in its large sense is extremely complicated. It involves the co-operation of many persons of whom the professional health educators are only one group. The practicing physician, for example, should play an important role. George Vassell, one-time President of the Rockefeller Foundation, once said that the practicing physician is the ultimate health officer. And the physician has surely a greater responsibility in the field of education in the means of preventing illness and building health than he has ever realized in the past. He has been too busy in the past with the need for his healing art to undertake what should be an obvious duty in the prevention of disease. Perhaps his traditional education has so severely prepared him for the leadership which should be his responsibility.

But there is another principle which is significant. In the ideal world the average citizen should be prepared to undertake responsibilities outside of his ordinary job of making a living for himself and his family. This applies not only to the doctor with his specialized knowledge but to every leader in the community. And who is there who should not at least attempt to lead? When the average citizen learns that the achievement of health for all would make a new and civilized world, when he plays his part in this great movement, then only will the dreams of those who believe in the startling significance of education for health come true. The fact that the achievement of health objectives is only possible when economic and social conditions are changed and that political forces constantly tend to prevent change should make it obvious that every voting citizen has his duty to perform if we are to achieve health for everybody.

Will Be Filmed

Activities Of Scotland Yard To Be Seen In Pictures

In these days of the film is invading all manner of hitherto impenetrable fortresses of isolationism. The latest citadel to succumb is a truly sensational coup for the movie-camera. A film is being made of Scotland Yard, reports a London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal. It will display its up-to-date activities in grappling with post-war crime, and will even admit the cinema public to its holy of holies—the senior officers' conference room with the conference in session. No doubt there is fine scenery in the Yard, including its fingerprint department, its chemical analysis laboratory, and so forth, but the piece de resistance for film fans will be an actual "shoot" of the famous "Flying Squad" on the trail.

The ancients believed the tides were caused by a great hole near the edge of the sea, from which water rushed at intervals to fill the ocean and flood its beaches.

The Royal Family

Go About With Complete Lack Of Police Protection

The London correspondent of the magazine Times writes about the Royal Family, whom he finds simple, unpretentious, dignified, respected, and he notes with special interest "the complete lack of police protection necessary for British royalty." He offers this explanation:

"Apparently no one wishes to harm them, which is either a great insult or a great compliment. After seeing the spontaneous gatherings which form wherever they go, after hearing non-descript little crowds give them three impromptu cheers as they get in their car, I favor the latter conclusion."

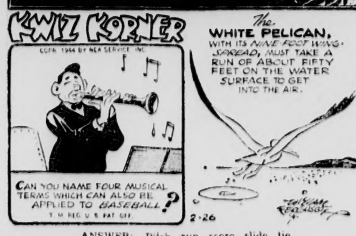

We are quite sure "Time" has come to the right conclusion, and the safety of British royalty is not only a compliment to the King and the members of his family but to the people among whom they move in complete security.

If a time comes when the British Monarchy is abolished it will not be through revolution or assassination but by the solemn and considered action of the people expressed through the ballot. And, in that remote contingency, we have no doubt that the first to pledge loyalty to the first president of the United Kingdom would be the sovereign just displaced.—Ottawa Journal.

THERE'S a mighty interesting story behind the recent incarceration of Judge Davidson Fraser in a lunatic asylum.

Daily newspaper readers may freshen their memories and recall that just prior to the learned judge going "raving mad," his only son was found shot by persons unknown. Or at least that's the verdict the coroner brought in. And most of our citizens realize that the shock of the death of his son resulted in the judge's insanity.

Now I can give you the real low-down behind the whole affair. And, believe me, the tale is strange and fiction.

Judge Davidson Fraser was the supreme dispenser of justice in his thriving western community. On this particular evening, the judge had just come into his home and found a note awaiting him. Unfolding the paper he read it carefully, then out of him gurgled a sort of a devilish laugh. Knowing the judge as I did, that's the only way I can describe his laugh. And truly it said it was.

"Dear Judge Fraser," it said. "Kindly accept our sincerest thanks for your verdict in today's court. You disobeyed our warning and saw fit to sentence to death a man you knew to be innocent. Therefore, dear Judge, we now sentence you. We work in an unusual manner, and we do unusual things. You will find cause to remember us for the balance of your life. We hold an appointment with you during the next twenty-four hours."

The letter was unsigned, and the judge laughed when he had finished it. "That's one funny habit a judge may have. He may laugh while we groan. However, it's a letter we were talking about. This wasn't the first threatening letter Judge Fraser had received during his varied career. Always anonymous, but most times he could almost guess their source.

Sometimes they had a mild sequel, but mostly they meant nothing.

This one? Well, this one was different. The man he had sentenced to hang was innocent, though that's a story for another day.

Unconsciously he tore the letter into shreds and watched them disappear in the fireplace. The judge's hand patted the little automatic lying snugly in the pocket of his gown, and his eyes glittered. Yes, he could still shoot. More than once his life had been saved by his ability to beat an assassin in the draw. Thanks to his old army officer, Twila, who had taught him the fine points of marksmanship.

If you could have been in that study that night you would have seen Judge Fraser just sitting there, comfortable, and staring into nothingness, while the firecrackers gleamed over his ruddy face, in which there was no dread.

But an hour later, we still find Judge Fraser in that same position. He had not moved. But a lot of things were coursing through that nimble mind. Fear and remorse. He forced his thoughts to centre around his chief interest in life—his son, Jim. The boy, who was showing him the sort of man he might have been. The boy who had thrown over the study of law against his father's wishes and turned to aviation instead.

Aviation had its risks, but then, so did law or any other work. He ought to know. Tomorrow Jim would be back home from the war. It would be good to see him again and he wished Jim's mother was still alive to share his pride in his son.

The sorry folks we have to advance another hour or so. This is a funny thing. It never stops and some of us have a long time to catch up with it.

Judge Fraser had dozed off into the realm of a mildly subconscious state. Grotesque visions of lurking, shadowy gunmen flitted through his mind. His imagination was running away with him, and he suddenly shook himself awake and sat up. He felt cold, and a damp sweat stood out on his forehead. What a dream! Or was it only dread and the haunting eyes of a condemned man?

He swung to his feet and switched off the lights. He looked at the radium dial of his watch. It was just midnight. His hand closed about the automatic. His fingers, lying with the trigger, he sank back into the chair. Why not call the police, and have a guard posted and go off to bed? He felt sleepy. Yet that was what he was going to do. He was sorry he hadn't done it earlier.

Judge Fraser stood up and yawned. Suddenly his heavy form staggered. He felt a draft. A barely perceptible draft coming from an outer door, opening in complete silence. Then he heard the steady door handle, a shadow fell across the threshold. By the faint glow from the fireplace, the judge could just make out the form—it seemed like the spirit of doom.

His automatic spat fire. A streak of flame—a moment of silence—a choking cry—and the shadow lurched and fell stretched on the floor. The judge smiled. It was a neat job. He switched on the lights, rushed to the phone and called the police. Then he turned to the figure.

The dead man was lying face downward. Avoiding a pool of blood, the judge showed the body over to his foot.

"God in Heaven!" shrieked the judge and a muffled cry startled the drowsy cop on the corner.

The cold glazed eyes that stared up at the judge were those of his son, Jim!

Too Fearsome

Atomic Energy Should Only Be Used For Man's Peaceful Use

This thing that raged Hiroshima, that ravaged Nagasaki and burst so spectacularly over Bikini Lagoon is too fearsome to be met by anything less than the highest civic courage and self-sacrifice that man can summon to his aid. The world cannot live in terror of the force that came on Hiroshima, unannounced, that kept the thousands of observers at Bikini in a state of tension, that communicated its strength for evil to the millions who listened to the test explosion. It must be bent to man's peaceful use, chained by universal resolve—or man will utterly outlive himself on the edge of annihilation. —New York Herald Tribune.

A HIGH BRIDGE

Joining Norway And Sweden, Said To Be The Highest In Europe

The bridge joining Norway and Sweden 200 feet above the Sveine Sund, south of Fredrikshald, which was opened by King Haakon of Norway and the Crown Prince of Sweden, is the highest in Europe.

The construction of the bridge, which is 1,200 feet long with one span of 465 feet, was begun in 1939 and was almost completed by Swedish engineers in 1942 when the German occupation forces were already established on the Norwegian side. The bridge was the scene of dramatic and often fatal attempts to escape from Norway during the war.

In 1942 lightning exploded a mine on the Swedish side, destroying the second arch and the restoration was postponed until the end of the war.

After eight months' work the bridge, a majestic engineering achievement, which now reestablishes the main western Scandinavian motor route, was completed, costing more than 3,000,000 Swedish kroner.—London Times.

Fight Dope Ring

Says People of Britain Are Not Prone To Use Of Narcotics

LONDON—Despite seven years of war and austerity, Britons generally have abstained from opium smoking and use of narcotics, Maj. W. H. Coles, Britain's representative on the United Nations Narcotics Commission, said in disclosing points of his own commission brief.

Britain, forced after the First Great War to fight a dope ring of countrywide proportions, is one of the countries least troubled by dope addicts.

The Englishman, no matter how great his worries may be—is not prone to narcotics even if he can get them," said Maj. Coles.

Authors' Association

Western Writers Well Represented At The Convention

The recent convention of the Canadian Authors' Association in Toronto marking its 25th year of existence was the most successful in every way, as there were upwards of 200 attending.

The retiring President, Roderick Stuart Kennedy of Montreal, editor of Family Herald & Weekly Star, is well known to many of our readers and has passed his authority into capable hands.

Among these interesting people who can put on paper what they feel, see and hear and who have imagination enough to write fiction, poetry, etc., we noticed that the West was well represented as reported by William Arthur Deacon (the new Association President) and Literary Editor of the Globe and Mail, Toronto.

Carle Hickey, poet, of Vancouver; Kathleen Strange, of Winnipeg, biographer; W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, novelist (see, "The hickies man"); Rose Annet, of Consort, Alberta, who sends his stories to the "Saturday Evening Post," were among some of the Western names noted. There are many other writers in the West doing good work and finding ready markets for their stories.

World Food Shortage

Britain Feels That She Should Help Starving Nations

Until the last few weeks people in Britain have tended to take for granted, as something remote, the world shortage of food. A letter from the Prime Minister to the head of every community in the country brings home the truth to the individual citizen. It is our duty to save food and to grow food to the utmost extent, to help the world survive, in Mr. Attlee's words, "one of the greatest food crises in history. There is a natural tendency, which we have made so many sacrifices, to feel that if anyone goes hungry it should be not our own people, but some stranger and for preference those who were our enemies. But they are in fact already hungry and many of them starving. In the absence of further effort by countries which have food, millions of men, women and children will starve to death as surely as men, women and children starved to death in concentration camps. Daily Telegraph and Morning Post (London).

HAD GOOD REASON

Cows were declared sacred in India 3,000 years ago, because the cattle population was being badly depleted by slaughtering, and it was feared that no animals would be left to supply milk. That is the explanation given by Sir Dattar Singh, leader of the Indian Trade Delegation to the U.S.

The tide-producing power of the moon upon the earth's oceans is more than twice that of the sun.

A TRUE APPRAISAL

Two men were discussing motorcars as they sat in the club. "I was once having a used car from a garage owner," said one. "Of course, he showed it, and since I was a novice, I knew nothing about it, but I found a way of finding out all about its defects."

"What sounds incredible," said the other.

"Well," continued the first man, "this is how I did it. I took the car for a trial and drove it to another dealer, and asked him to buy it!"

Still Being Paid

Indians Receiving Money Owed By Government For Their Land

Indians still are being paid for the lands they surrendered by treaty with the white man, A. G. Leslie, trusts division official of the Indian affairs branch, told the parliamentary committee on Indian affairs. The funds, paid annually by the government, were not given as largess of humanitarian purpose, but as instalments owed the Indians for their land.

He said that more than 90 per cent of the trust fund which totals $17,000,000 belonged to individual Indians across Canada. The richest band was the Blackfoot tribe, whose 1,000 members had $2,751,300 in their capital and revenue funds. But the band with the greatest per capita wealth was the Doka of the Star-gem agency. The 210 Doka had more than $958,000 in their funds.
